DR. SAMUEL M. BROWN.

Samuel M. Brown M. D., was born Feb. 11, 1853. He graduated from the Missouri Medical College in March 1875. He practiced medicine at Rensselaer, Mo., until about 1892 when he removed to Monroe City where he has since resided until the date of his death which was Feb. 27, 1908. On Jan. 20, 1881 he married Miss Emma Bullo.

Dr. Brown leaves a wife and two daughters, his only son dying several years since.

The death of Dr. Sam Brown was one of extreme regret to the entire community.

A kind and loving husband, a fond and indulgent father, an honorable, upright and noble physician. A consistent christian gentleman, who lived Christianity every moment of his life. He will be greatly missed by all. He will be deeply mourned by the many who depended on him in days and nights of sickness. Ever ready to minister to the wants of the sick and dying and whisper words of sympathy and christian advice into their ears.

He will be sadly missed by his brother physicians, who always depended on him for good sound advice and always got fair and honorable treatment. Sam Brown as he was familiarly known by his associates will be missed by all. He stood high in the Masonic fraternity, as well as in the Odd Fellows brotherhood. The Masons had charge of his funeral. The Odd Fellows accompanied as an escort.

The two lodges secured two passenger coaches which were filled with all who wished to attend the funeral at Rensselaer, Mo. They were met by a large crowd of hospitable people who had vehicles of all kinds waiting to convey the crowd to the cemetery, where we buried the body of their former beloved physician. The funeral discourse was preached by the Rev. J. E. Travis. The Presbyterian church was not capable of holding the vast crowds who came, and the overflow crowd filled to its capacity the Christian church where Rev. Dr. I. W. Read and Rev. J. M. Bailey gave fine addresses.

The Presbyterian church will miss Dr. Brown more perhaps than anyone can realize, as he was always a zealous member and punctual at all the regular services of that church. He will be missed of course most of all by his family. That void can never be filled. It has been my privilege to know him as a medical student, as a physician, as a good citizen and as a christian. As a student he applied himself and made it possible to take his place as a fine physician with few equals and no superiors. As a physician he has always retained the confidence of his patients.

Faithful, competent, cheerful and sympathetic.

As a citizen he was highly esteemed by all.

As a christian he was devout, constant, consistent, and faced death with the same christian faith that he had in health. He lived a christian, he died the same. I have never seen anyone who faced death as unflinchingly and with the same confidence as did Dr. Brown. To be bereft of such a man, such a father, such a husband, such a physician and one of nature's noblemen, is indeed a calamity from which we shall not soon recover. May God in his infinite wisdom and goodness be with us all, and especially with this bereaved widow and daughters, and help us bear up under so great a sorrow.
